- In the western frontier territories there is great discontent along workers in building traies, caused by the fixing of wages without consideration of seasonal working possibilities. In order to deal with the situation, ministerial commissars had to be delegated to head the building workers' trade unions. These commissars arbitrarily dismissed the locally elected trade union leaders. Such changes, in turn, brought about a new leadership in the Hungarian Building Workers' Organization (Magyar Epitë Mankasok Orsagos Svervezete NEMOSz).
- 2. The lack of work in the building trade is due to stoppage of all private building enterprises. State building work, on the other hand, is hammered by shortage of capital and building materials, particularly mild steel and lime. As was the case during the war, building materials are distributed through the "Materials Office" (Anyag Hivatal). Allocations cone under the following priorities:
 - SAA (the most urgent): Soviet enterprises and army requirements; Hungarian Army requirements involving heavy industry; construction of einfields.
 - .SA : other Hungarian Army requirements; civilian public buildings, particularly for industry and agriculture.
 - BAA : other public building needs.
 - BA : private building needs.

In practice, however, only requirements under Category SAA can be fulfilled.
